

Let's make every customer pick the right channel.

An open application from Kira Krysanov, with a company review, a homepage redesign, a LinkedIn audit, ready-to-post content, a Q4 content calendar and explainer video concepts for reChanneld.

01

Why I'm writing

02

Front AI today

03

Homepage review & redesign

04

LinkedIn audit & better posts

05

Q4 content calendar

06

Explainer videos

07

How I can help

+

Homepage concept (separate PDF)

Kira Krysanov

Ex-Leadoo · Ex-Videobot · Content, conversion & explainer video

kira.krysanov@gmail.com

Hi Jari and the Front AI team,

On 1 July you completed the sale of your AI agent business to Digital Workforce and became a pure-play SaaS company built around reChanneld. That's a bold, focused move. It also means the story you tell has to change, and from the outside it hasn't changed yet.

Today front.ai still opens with "AI chatbots", and its biggest numbers (3.5 million automated conversations, 300 FTEs saved) come from the business you just sold. Meanwhile most of your recent LinkedIn posts are about voicebots, which are now Digital Workforce's. A buyer landing on your site this week can't tell what Front AI sells.

I worked at Leadoo and Videobot, two Finnish SaaS companies that sell the same thing reChanneld does at heart: the moment when a visitor lands on a website with a need, and the page has a few seconds to guide them to the right next step. At Leadoo that meant conversational bots. At Videobot it meant interactive video. I know how this category is bought in the Nordics, how to explain an invisible product, and how to turn an explainer into pipeline.

Instead of only telling you, I've done some of the work. This pack has:

1

A new homepage

A full redesign concept that leads with reChanneld, with 12 annotated changes. It's in a separate PDF.

2

A content engine

A LinkedIn audit, seven ready-to-post drafts and a 12-week Q4 calendar starting with Customer Service Week.

3

Explainer videos

Six video concepts and a full storyboard for a 60-second reChanneld explainer that I can produce.

I'd love to help write reChanneld's next chapter, whether that's a full-time marketing and content role, working alongside your new GTM lead, or a first project to prove it. Twenty minutes over coffee at POOL would be a great start.

Warm regards,

Kira Krysanov

kira.krysanov@gmail.com

Front AI today: a new company in an old suit

A growing Helsinki SaaS company that has just reinvented itself, while its website and social channels still describe the old one.

2019

Founded in Helsinki · CEO
Jari Annala

€3.2 M

Revenue 2025 (up from
€1.9 M in 2022)

€3 M

+ up to €0.6 M earn-out:
AI agent business sold to Digital Workforce

2,727

LinkedIn followers · 3
offices listed (FI, SE, NO)

Timeline

- 2019 Front AI founded. It deploys chat and voice bots (boost.ai partner) for Nordic banks, insurers and payments companies.
- 2023–24 reChanneld launched: a channel-strategy tool built on behavioural nudges. S-Bank goes live in spring 2024.
- 2025 Revenue €3.2 M, 14 employees. “Year of Voice Automation” events with boost.ai in Helsinki and Stockholm.
- 1 Jul 2026 The AI agent business moves to Digital Workforce: 8 employees and ~30 customer contracts.
- Now Pure-play B2B SaaS: reChanneld plus international growth. Hiring a GTM lead for Finland.

Revenue (€ M)

Includes the divested agent business. reChanneld's own share isn't public.

reChanneld in one sentence

A layer on the client's website and app that uses behavioural nudges (defaults, honest wait times, framing) to guide each customer request to the best channel. It comes with real-time analytics.

Proof points available today

- 79% of contacts typically nudged to the client's preferred channel
- S-Bank: 3.3 M customers, ~1 M interactions a year; reChanneld works next to the Aulis chatbot (60k chats a month, 90%+ resolved)
- “Made in Finland” and “Design from Finland” badges; tagline Better choices, happier customers

What this means for marketing

- One brand story. front.ai and rechanneld.com overlap. Pick one primary story: the product.
- Vendor-neutral is now a superpower. Front AI no longer sells bots, so it can partner with every bot vendor, Digital Workforce included.
- The category needs explaining. “Channel strategy software” isn't a budget line yet. Education content creates demand.
- International growth needs English and Swedish content that works without a sales call.

Sources: Front AI and Digital Workforce releases (1 Jul 2026), Inderes, Vainu/Finder company data, front.ai and LinkedIn as of 2 Oct 2026.

front.ai homepage: 12 findings

Reviewed as a Head of Customer Service at a Nordic bank would see it, on 2 October 2026.

2/10

MESSAGE
CLARITY

4/10

PROOF

5/10

CONVERSION
PATH

7/10

VISUAL POLISH

4/10

ACCESSIBILITY

5/10

CONSISTENCY

01 The page sells a product Front AI no longer offers CRITICAL

The hero promises “AI chatbots”, the middle section is “Conversational AI”, and the services menu links to bot pages. Right below that, a news banner says the chatbot business was sold.

→ Lead with reChanneld everywhere. Retire or redirect the bot pages to Digital Workforce.

02 “Customer service reimaged” says nothing CRITICAL

The headline could belong to any of 500 CX vendors. A visitor has to scroll to the second section to see the product's name.

→ Name the outcome: “Guide every customer to the right channel before they pick up the phone.”

03 The big numbers belong to the sold business CRITICAL

3.5 M conversations, 300 FTEs, NPS 87, and 80% / 40% / 90% are chatbot results. Some now arguably belong to Digital Workforce, and none of them prove reChanneld.

→ Replace them with reChanneld proof: 79% of contacts nudged, plus the S-Bank case.

04 The product is never shown HIGH reChanneld is a visual widget, the easiest kind of product to demo. The page shows a blurry mock-up, a stock photo of a woman with coffee and an owl, but never the real UI.

→ Make the product the hero image: a real nudge widget on a bank site, with live wait times.

05 Seven different calls to action HIGH

“Book a demo”, “Contact us”, “Get demo!”, “Learn more”, “Learn about Gen AI”, “Get started now” and a newsletter form all compete. None of them offers anything low-commitment.

→ One primary CTA (“See it on your own website”) and one secondary (“Book a demo”).

06 The explainer video is buried and sends people to YouTube HIGH

The animated reChanneld video sits halfway down the page, with YouTube branding and “Watch on YouTube”, which takes visitors off the site.

→ A new 60-second explainer, hosted natively with EN, FI and SV captions, placed right after the proof.

07 Unsupported superlatives MEDIUM

“Undisputed leader”, “Best Conversational AI service provider” and “Most project deliveries in the Nordics” have no source. Nordic buyers are sceptical of hype, and after the divestiture these claims aren't accurate either.

→ Swap the claims for specifics: named customers, a third-party quote, “Made in Finland”.

08 Facts that contradict each other MEDIUM

One line says “Front AI operates in Finland, Sweden and Denmark”, but the footer lists offices in Finland, Sweden and Norway. The footer still describes Front AI as “Conversational AI”. The product name is written reChanneld, RECHANNELD and Rechanneld.

→ A one-page messaging and style guide, applied across the site and LinkedIn.

09 The logo wall has no context MEDIUM

Eight logos with no story, and it's unclear which of them use reChanneld and which were bot customers who moved to Digital Workforce.

→ Show only reChanneld customers, and link each logo to a story or quote.

10 Low contrast and small, thin text MEDIUM

Light-grey, thin text on navy (the feature descriptions, the footer) likely fails WCAG AA. That matters to banks and the public sector, who must meet the European Accessibility Act.

→ Body text at least 16 px, contrast of at least 4.5:1, heavier font weights.

11 Mixed languages, no language switcher LOW

A Finnish-language event card sits on the English homepage, and Swedish buyers get no Swedish content, even though Sweden is a growth market.

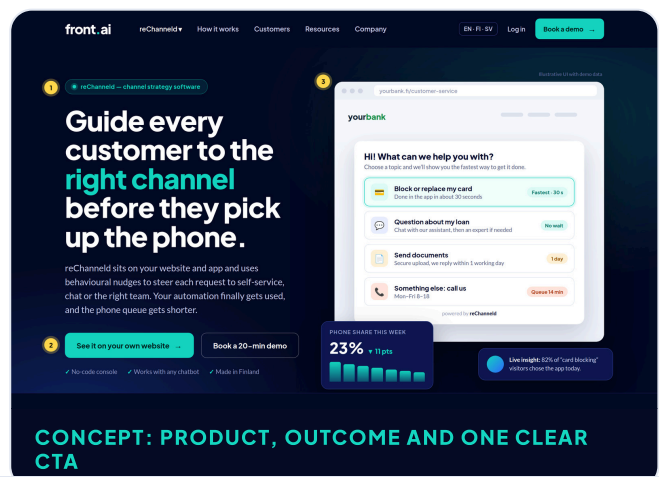

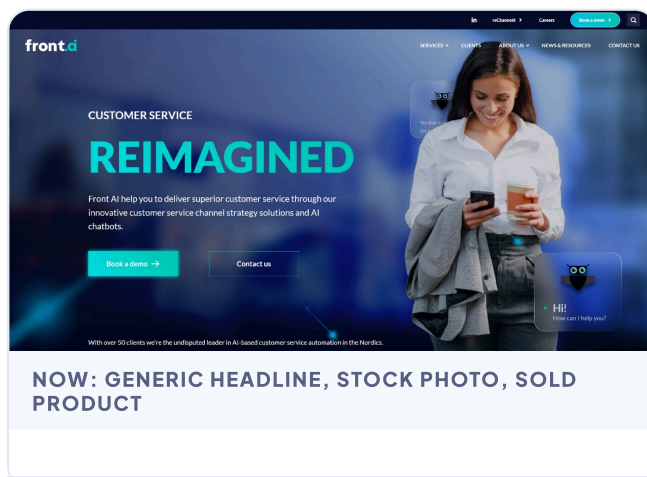

→ An EN/FI/SV switcher, with the hero, video captions and case study in all three.

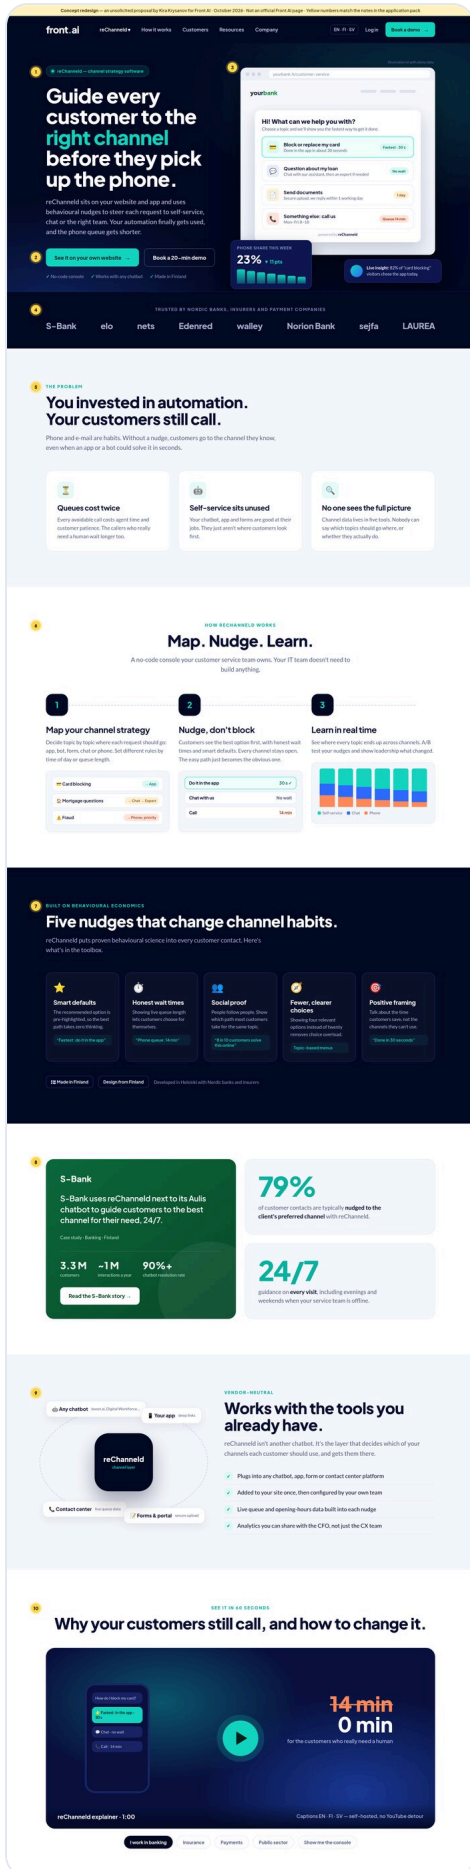

12 Nothing for the visitor who isn't ready yet LOW

The only options are a demo or the newsletter. There's nothing for a CX lead who is building a business case: no playbook, no ROI calculator, no template.

→ A “Channel Strategy Playbook” and a personalised preview as lead magnets.

Before → after: the first screen

One product, one story, one next step

The full page is in Front-AI-Homepage-Concept.pdf (1440 px, high resolution). Each yellow number on the page matches one of these notes.

- Outcome headline. Names the job, the product and the benefit in the first five seconds. Fixes findings 01 and 02.
- One primary CTA: “See it on your own website”. Lower commitment than a demo, and it creates a natural sales follow-up. Fixes 05.
- The product is the hero. A realistic nudge widget showing smart defaults and honest wait times, with a live-analytics card next to it. Fixes 04.
- Logo wall limited to reChanneld customers (to be verified with the team). Fixes 09.
- The problem, in the buyer's words. “You invested in automation. Your customers still call.”
- Map. Nudge. Learn. Three steps with UI snippets, so the product is understood without a call.
- The behavioural science, made concrete. Five nudges with real UI copy. This is the moat, so it gets its own section.
- reChanneld proof only. The S-Bank case and the 79% figure replace the chatbot statistics. Fixes 03 and 07.
- Vendor-neutral positioning. “Works with any chatbot, including boost.ai and Digital Workforce” turns the divestiture into a selling point.
- Native explainer with industry chips that work as an interactive video (my Videobot background). Fixes 06.
- Resources for the visitor who isn't ready yet: a case study, a playbook and the Nudge Lab series. Fixes 12.
- Personalised preview form. The visitor enters their URL and gets a mock-up of reChanneld on their own site. Also: an EN/FI/SV switcher, larger type and WCAG-level contrast. Fixes 10 and 11.

Kept on purpose

The navy and teal palette, the front.ai wordmark and the overall dark/light rhythm. This is an evolution, not a rebrand, so it can ship in weeks on the current site.

People and events work. Product is missing.

The 18 most visible posts on the company page, reviewed on 2 October 2026 (2,727 followers).

POST	TOPIC	REACTIONS
Year of Voice Automation, full house at Helsinki Hub	Event · voice	68
"A big day for us": divestiture to Digital Workforce	Company news	68
Interview video: "top 3 reasons companies..."	Video · voice	40
"World's happiest country", reChanneld visual	Culture · product	28
Interview video: "too late to catch up?"	Video · voice	27
Interview video: "where are companies losing money?"	Video · voice	26
Schibsted VoiceBot, "35% of calls. One issue. One fix."	Video case · voice	24
Traficom repost (Finnish)	Repost · voice	20
Fintech Landscape of Finland repost	Repost	18
Nudging event in Stockholm	Event · reChanneld	13
Hiring: GTM Finland for reChanneld	Hiring	12
Digital Workforce acquisition repost	Repost	8

 about the divested agent / voice business  about Front AI now or reChanneld

What works

- Real people and full rooms. Event recaps and people moments get 2–5 times the median.
- Short vertical interview clips with burned-in captions are consistent performers (24–40).
- Sharp hooks like "35% of all calls. One issue. One fix." are exactly the right style.
- Honest company news lands well (68 on the divestiture post).

What's missing

- About 70% of the content is about voicebots and bots, which now belong to Digital Workforce.
- reChanneld barely appears. No post explains what it does or shows the UI.
- Reposts with one-line captions ("Thank you boost.ai and congratulations...") give away reach.
- No formats built for reach: no carousels, polls, newsletter or recurring series.
- No posting rhythm. There are gaps of several weeks since July.
- The page category is still "IT Services and Consulting" instead of Software Development.

Strategy in one line: keep the people-first, event-led energy, and point all of it at one product and one idea: customers choose better channels when you nudge them.

Seven drafts in Front AI's voice

Hook in the first two lines (before "...more"), a single idea, links in the first comment, and a native visual. All drafts can be adapted to Jari's own voice for his personal profile.

Front AI

Week 41 · Tue · Carousel, 7 slides

POSITIONING

In July we sold our chatbot business. People keep asking why.

Here's the honest answer:

Nordic companies don't lack chatbots. Most banks, insurers and retailers already have one, and many of them are very good.

What they lack is customers using them.

People still call about things the app could solve in 30 seconds. Not because they're stubborn, but because nobody showed them the faster way at the moment they needed it.

That moment is what reChanneld is built for. Now it's all we do.

Our former agent team has a great new home at Digital Workforce, and we're cheering them on 🍀 👉 Swipe to see reChanneld in 7 slides.

Visual: carousel. 1 "We sold our chatbot business." → 2 "Here's why." → 3-6 problem, nudge, analytics, S-Bank → 7 "See it on your own site" CTA.

Front AI

Week 41 · Thu · Photo

CUSTOMER SERVICE WEEK

It's Customer Service Week, so here's a thank-you and a promise.

Thank you to every agent who picked up the phone this year.

And the promise: channel strategy is not about keeping customers away from people.

It's about keeping your people for the conversations only humans can have. The fraud victim. The widower closing an account. The first-time home buyer at 7 pm.

Everything else can be done in 30 seconds in the app, if someone shows the way.

Tag a service team that deserves a coffee today ☕

Visual: a real photo of a client's service team (with permission) or of the Front AI team holding coffee cups. No stock photos.

Front AI

Week 42 · Tue · Poll

ENGAGEMENT

Quick question for customer service leaders 🗳️

Your app can do it. Your chatbot can do it. Your website has the answer.

So why do customers still call?

- They don't know it exists
- Calling is just the habit
- They don't trust the bot
- Self-service can't solve it

We'll share the results, and what we see in the data, next week.

Follow-up: a results post on Thursday of week 43 that explains which nudge fixes each answer. It's a natural sales conversation starter in the comments.

Front AI

Week 43 · Tue · Vertical video,
45 s

NUDGE LAB
#1

The most powerful sentence in customer service is five words long:

“Current wait time: 14 minutes.”

It isn't a barrier. It's information. When customers see the queue next to “Do it in the app, 30 seconds”, many of them happily choose the faster path, and they feel good about it because it was their choice.

That's a nudge: you don't close channels, you make the better option obvious.

Nudge Lab, episode 1 of 5. Which principle should we cover next? 🙋

Visual: a presenter on camera plus a screen recording of the reChanneld widget, burned-in captions in the Front AI style seen in your current videos.

Front AI

Week 48 · Tue · Carousel

BLACK FRIDAY

On Friday your phone queue will tell you exactly where your channel strategy breaks.

Peak days don't create new problems. They make the existing ones louder.

Three things you can still do this week:

- 1 List your top 10 contact reasons from last November
- 2 For each one, write down the fastest channel that can actually solve it
- 3 Put that option first on your contact page, with a real wait time next to the phone number

That's a channel strategy. Ours just does it automatically, in real time 😊

Want the template? Comment “PEAK” and we'll send it.

Visual: a 5-slide checklist carousel. Comment-to-get drives reach and gives sales warm leads.

Front AI

Week 44 · Tue · Document post

PROOF

3.3 million customers. About a million contacts a year. One question: where should each one go?

S-Bank already had a strong chatbot: Aulis handles 60,000 conversations a month and resolves over 90% of them.

The challenge was getting the right customers to Aulis, and the right ones to a human.

Since spring 2024, reChanneld has guided S-Bank's customers to the best channel for their need, 24/7.

How they set it up, in 6 slides 🙋

(Full case in the comments.)

Visual: a PDF carousel in S-Bank green with Front AI navy. If possible, add a short quote from S-Bank's CX lead, with their approval.

Front AI

Week 47 · Thu · Text + image ·

FINNISH
MARKET

FI

Asiakaspalvelun jono ei ole resurssiongelma. Se on ohjausongelma.

Suurin osa soitoista koskee asioita, jotka asiakas hoitaisi sovelluksessa puolella minuutissa, jos joku näyttäisi tien oikealla hetkellä.

Lisää agentteja ei korjaa tätä. Parempi ohjaus korjaa.

reChanneld näyttää asiakkaalle nopeimman tavan hoitaa asia ja kertoo rehellisesti puhelinjonon pituuden. Valinta jää asiakkaalle, ja useimmiten hän valitsee nopeamman tien.

Paljonko teidän soitoistanne voisi hoitua digitaalisesti? Kerro kommentteissa 🙋

Visual: a split image: “14 min” queue vs “30 s” app.
Publish an SV version for Sweden in the same week.

Before → after: two real posts

Before: “Thank you, boost.ai and congratulations, Digital Workforce Services Plc, and the whole ex-front team!” (repost, 13 reactions)

After: “Our former team is nominated for Innovation Partner of the Year at BoostCamp 🏆 Proud of you. Also proof that Nordic customer service AI is world-class. Next up for us: making sure customers actually find those great bots. That's reChanneld.” It celebrates the team and bridges to the product.

Before: “Happy Holidays! As the year ends, it's time to say a big thank you...” (generic image)

After: “While you're off over the holidays, reChanneld works the night shift 🦉 It guides customers to the right channel 24/7, so your team comes back in January to a shorter queue. Thank you for an amazing 2026.” Same owl, now with a product point.

House rules for every post

- Hook in the first two lines, one idea per post
- Links go in the first comment, never in the body
- Every 3rd post shows the product UI
- Real people over stock photos, always
- Spell it reChanneld, every time
- Team members re-share with their own comment within 1 hour

12 weeks: reposition, educate, convert

Rhythm: 2 company posts a week (Tue + Thu, 8:30 EET) · 1–2 posts from team members · Nudge Lab episode every other week · monthly newsletter · 1 webinar.

CarouselVideoText/imagePollDoc/lead magnetEvent

October · “The new Front AI”

WEEK	THEME	TUESDAY	THURSDAY	TEAM / FOUNDER	WEB, VIDEO & OTHER
W41 5–9 Oct	Customer Service Week + repositioning	CAR “We sold our chatbot business. Here’s why.”	IMG Customer Service Week thank-you to agents	Jari: personal story of why we focused	New hero and messaging live; LinkedIn page category and About updated
W42 12–16 Oct	Why customers still call	POLL “Why do your customers still call?”	TXT “Phone is a habit, not a preference”	GTM lead: hello post (“what I’ll fix first”)	Hero explainer: script and storyboard approved
W43 19–23 Oct	Nudge Lab #1	VID Nudge Lab ep. 1: honest wait times	CAR Poll results + which nudge fixes each	Designer: “how we design a nudge”	Newsletter #1 “Channel Strategy Notes”
W44 26–30 Oct	Proof: S-Bank	DOC S-Bank case in 6 slides	VID 30-s clip: the widget on a bank site	CS lead: 3 lessons from going live	S-Bank case landing page; retargeting ad to site visitors

November · “Educate the category”

WEEK	THEME	TUESDAY	THURSDAY	TEAM / FOUNDER	WEB, VIDEO & OTHER
W45 2–6 Nov	Explainer launch	VID Premiere: “Why your customers still call” (60 s)	CAR Map → Nudge → Learn in 3 slides	Jari: “What 5 years of chatbots taught us”	Video on homepage, EN/FI/SV captions; sales e-mail version
W46 9–13 Nov	Nudge Lab #2 + webinar invite	VID Nudge Lab ep. 2: smart defaults	EVENT Webinar invite: “Peak season without the queue”	Everyone: personal invite + 1 line on why	Swedish post + SV landing page
W47 16–20 Nov	Peak-season prep	CAR “Before Black Friday: 5 nudges”	FI “Jono ei ole resurssiongelma...”	Stockholm lead: Swedish market view	Webinar (avoid Slush days); recording edited into 3 clips
W48 23–27 Nov	Black Friday	CAR “Your queue will tell you...” (comment PEAK)	VID Webinar highlights, 60 s	CS lead: “what we watch on peak day”	Newsletter #2; PEAK template sent to commenters

December · “Plan 2027 with us”

WEEK	THEME	TUESDAY	THURSDAY	TEAM / FOUNDER	WEB, VIDEO & OTHER
W49 30 Nov–4 Dec	Myth-busting	CAR “5 myths about call deflection”	VID Nudge Lab ep. 3: social proof	Product: what’s new in reChanneld	Myths turned into a blog post (SEO: “call deflection”)
W50 7–11 Dec	2027 budgets	DOC Channel Strategy Playbook + template	IMG Customer quote card (micro-case)	Jari: “3 questions to ask before 2027 CX budgets”	Playbook gated on the site; LinkedIn lead-gen ad
W51 14–18 Dec	Year in review	CAR “Our 2026 in 6 numbers” (real figures)	IMG Team photo, people-first thank-you	Everyone: 1 lesson from 2026	Newsletter #3: year in review
W52 21–23 Dec	Holidays	VID “reChanneld works the night shift 🦉” (10-s loop)	Off	Off	Q1 plan: Nudge Lab eps. 4–5, Swedish case

Q4 targets (proposed)

METRIC	NOW	31 DEC
LinkedIn followers	2,727	3,300
Avg. engagement rate per post	~0.7%	2%+
Posts about reChanneld	~10%	80%+
Explainer video completion	—	40%+
Webinar sign-ups	—	80
Demo / preview requests from content	?	4 / month

“Now” is estimated from public reaction counts. The baseline would be confirmed from page analytics in week 1.

Four recurring formats

Nudge Lab

A 45-second vertical video every other week, one behavioural principle per episode. It builds the category and the brand at the same time.

Channel Strategy Notes

A monthly LinkedIn newsletter, which notifies all followers. One insight, one customer story, one tip.

Floor interviews

Keep the interview clips that already work, now asking CX leaders about channel choice instead of voicebots.

Teardown Tuesday (Q1)

A friendly look at one public “contact us” page (with permission) and how a nudge would improve it.

Six videos that sell reChanneld while the team sleeps reChanneld is a product people get the moment they see it. Video is the shortest path from “what is this?” to “I want this on our site.”

1 • “Why your customers still call”

PRIORITY 1

A 60-second 2D motion explainer: the problem, the nudge moment, the result, the console. It's the anchor asset for the homepage, sales e-mails, events and LinkedIn. It replaces the current YouTube cartoon with something shorter, sharper and captioned.

60 s · 16:9 + 1:1 + 9:16 · EN voice-over · EN/FI/SV captions · storyboard on the next page

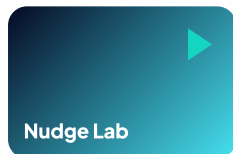

2 • “Map. Nudge. Learn.” product loop

PRIORITY 1

A silent, captioned 30-second screen-motion piece of the real console and widget. It loops in the homepage hero and runs as a LinkedIn video ad, with no voice-over needed.

30 s · silent · loopable · MP4/WebM

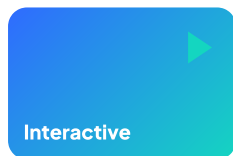

3 • Nudge Lab series (5 episodes)

PRIORITY 2

A presenter-led vertical series, one behavioural principle per episode: wait-time transparency, defaults, social proof, choice overload and framing. It builds on the interview-clip style that already performs on your page.

5 × 45 s · 9:16 · filmed in one shoot day

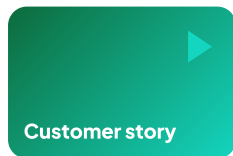

4 • Interactive guided demo

MY VIDEOBOT SPECIALITY

A branching video on the homepage. The visitor picks “banking / insurance / payments / public sector” and gets a tailored 40-second path with relevant nudges, ending in the right CTA. The format demonstrates the product's own idea: guide people with smart choices.

1 intro + 4 branches · works with Videobot or a similar player

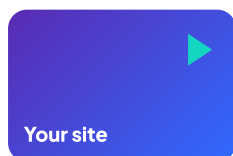

5 • S-Bank customer story

PRIORITY 2

A 90-second documentary-style case with S-Bank's CX lead (subject to their approval), plus 3 social cut-downs. Peer proof is the strongest asset for Nordic banks and insurers.

90 s + 3 × 20 s · on location in Helsinki

6 • Personalised prospect previews

PIPELINE

A 30-second template video showing a prospect's own website with reChanneld on top. It powers the “See it on your own website” CTA and outbound. About 20 minutes per prospect once the template exists, and it's how Leadoo- and Videobot-style teams book meetings.

Template + per-prospect screen capture · for sales

“Why your customers still call”

Style: flat 2D motion in Front AI navy, teal and white, with real reChanneld UI in a browser frame. The owl appears once as a wink. Calm, confident voice-over; Nordic, not American hype.

0:00–0:07

📞 Phones ringing
Queue counter: 9 → 14 → 22

VISUAL

A contact center floor seen from above, with the queue number climbing.

“Your customers have an app. A chatbot. A website full of answers. So why are they still calling?”

0:07–0:15

Anna, 23:40
🗉 card missing → “Contact us”
→ 📞

VISUAL

Anna can't find her card. She opens the bank site, sees a big phone number and taps it.

“Because when something goes wrong, people do what they've always done.”

0:15–0:25

⏮️ Rewind
Widget: “★ Block in app · 30 s” vs “📞 14 min”

VISUAL

Rewind. The same moment, now with the reChanneld widget. The fastest option glows.

“reChanneld meets customers at that exact moment and shows them the fastest way to get it done, with honest wait times.”

0:25–0:35

✅ Card blocked · 0:28
👤 Agent helping an elderly fraud victim

VISUAL

Anna's card is blocked in 28 seconds. Split screen: an agent calmly helps someone who really needs it.

“Simple things get solved in seconds. Your team gets time for the conversations that need a human.”

0:35–0:48

🖥️ Console: topics → channels
📊 self-service share rising

VISUAL

The no-code console: drag a topic to a channel. The live dashboard shows the channel mix shifting.

“Your team decides which topics go where, without IT. Real-time analytics show what's working.”

0:48–1:00

reChanneld 🦉
Better choices. Happier customers.

VISUAL

Logo resolve with your existing tagline, and the URL field “See it on your own website”.

“reChanneld by Front AI. Better choices. Happier customers.”

Deliverables

16:9 master, 1:1 and 9:16 cut-downs, a 6-second bumper, EN/FI/SV captions (SRT), thumbnail, and a GIF for e-mail.

Process

Script → style frames → animatic → animation → sound and voice-over → captions. Two feedback rounds at each stage.

Timeline

About 3–4 weeks from approved script. That fits the week-45 premiere in the calendar if we start in mid-October.

Three ways to work together

You're building an international SaaS story with a small team. I can be the person who makes reChanneld easy to understand, easy to want and easy to buy.

PREFERRED

Join the team

Marketing, content and video for reChanneld, in-house in Helsinki. I'd own the website, LinkedIn, video and demand-gen content, working hand in hand with the new GTM lead and sales.

Start with a sprint

A 30-day relaunch: new homepage copy and layout, the 60-second hero explainer, and the first 4 weeks of the content calendar. A clear scope, so you can judge the work before deciding more.

Ongoing support

A monthly retainer for video and content: Nudge Lab episodes, customer stories, prospect previews and LinkedIn management, scaling up or down with your growth.

My first 90 days

DAYS 1–30

Fix the story

- One-page messaging and style guide
- Homepage relaunch (hero, proof, CTA)
- Bot pages retired or redirected
- LinkedIn page refresh + repositioning post

DAYS 31–60

Show the product

- 60-second hero explainer + UI loop
- S-Bank case page and carousel
- Nudge Lab episodes 1–3
- Monthly newsletter launched

DAYS 61–90

Build pipeline

- Webinar + Channel Strategy Playbook
- Personalised prospect-preview videos
- Swedish landing page and content
- Monthly content report to leadership

Why me

Leadoo taught me how website visitors turn into conversations. VideoBot taught me how video guides people to the right next step. reChanneld sits exactly where those two meet. I already speak the language of your buyers, your partners and your category.

What I bring

Explainer video scripting, storyboarding and production · B2B SaaS copywriting · LinkedIn content and social video · landing pages and CRO · Nordic market understanding.

Coffee at POOL next week?

I'd love to walk you through the concept page and hear where reChanneld is going.

kira.krysanov@gmail.com

Kira Krysanov